WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

WHATEVER hope there is for Free-silver lies in international action; whatever hope there is for international action lies in the Republican party.

The commission of Japanese statesmen, after 18 months of study of the question in all its phases, decided in favor of the adoption of the gold standard for Japan. They found that under the declining value of silver the cost of living had, since 1873, increased 62 per cent, while wages had increased but 33 per cent.

It was 18 months from the inauguration of President CLEVELAND until his Free-trade Congress had put its Wilson Law upon the statute books. There is reason to believe that the Hingley Law will be upon the statute books within 18 weeks of the inauguration of WILLIAM McKINLEY. But until that happens people have no right to expect resumption of activity in manufacturing.

THE Japanese statesmen must have been laughing in their sleeves at the United States during the late campaign. Japan was being held up as the most striking example of prosperity among silver-using Nations and at the same time these statesmen knew that Japan was going to adopt the gold standard, because Free-silver was destroying her prosperity.

NO PARTY ever gained anything by violating its pledges. The Republican party in 1890 pledged itself to a Protective Tariff and another effort to bring about international bimetalism. The people who are complaining that these pledges are being carried out ought to realize that a failure to keep them would not be only bad faith but bad policy as well.

THE New York Mail and Express says that ex-Postmaster General WILSON's hatred for a Tariff Bill which proposes to place an extra $300,000,000 per year in the pockets of American workmen presents the full measure of his contempt for labor interests. Anything which seeks to raise the scale of wages in this country is invariably regarded by the Free-trade theorists as a scheme to ruin the Nation.

WHEN men upon fuller information change their mind upon a subject it is evidence that they are honest. The Chattanooga Times says JOHN G. CARLISLE opposed the dropping of the silver dollar from the coinage in 1873. He very strenuously opposed the demonetization of silver, a year later; and he had strenuously opposed free coinage at 16 to 1 five years later, when the Bland-Allison Bill was before Congress, though he voted to demonetize silver. CARLISLE, when he knew little on the subject, was a bimetalist of the Cornish school. Since he has mastered the whole history, policy and science of money, he knows that bimetalism never did and never can exist. If some of his critics knew a little about the question they would not be criticizing him. At any rate, the citation of his speeches of 1878 against his speeches of 1893-97, is merely to denounce him for having changed his opinion on fuller information.

OUR WASHINGTON MAN.

THE LEDGER'S SPECIAL LETTER FROM THE CAPITAL.

Special Correspondence Public Ledger.

WASHINGTON, May 7, 1897.
Increased harmony in Republican ranks and increased divisions among Democrats are the leading features of this week's developments in Washington. The Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee, who have been laboriously engaged upon the tariff bill, have exercised such good judgment and tact in shaping the bill that there is reason to believe that every Republican vote and the vote of every man who in past years co-operated with the party will be for the bill, and this insures its early passage and enactment as a law. While this drift toward harmony is clearly apparent among the Republicans, the mad rush in the direction of party divisions is even more apparent among the Democrats. Half of the members of that party in the House have chosen to follow the leadership of that most erratic and extreme of the Populist leaders, Jerry Simpson, while the other half have fallen into the hands of Congressmen Bailey, this absolutely dividing in two equal factions the Democratic party in the House of Representatives. When it is remembered that there is still a third faction of the party in the Cleveland element, and even a fourth in that wing of the party which is now supporting Protection, it will be seen that the divisions are such as to leave the Democratic party in a very much distracted condition, while the Republicans are not only thoroughly harmonious, but bringing back into their own ranks, on the tariff question, those who temporarily alienated themselves on currency issues.

THE DIVIDED DEMOCRACY.
The important feature of the week was the test vote in the House on Jerry Simpson's demand that the Speaker should appoint the committees. This had been a troublesome question to the Democracy, for that element which favored co-operation with the Populists in the last campaign had clung to Simpson and supported his demand, while Mr. Bailey, who was the Democratic caucus nominee for the Speakership, had opposed Simpson's proposition. This had already created a division between the members of the party favoring a continuance of the alliance with the Populists and those who were opposed to further association with this element of American politics. The feeling between these two factions had grown intense, and the final struggle came in the vote on a motion to require the Speaker to appoint committees.

Upon this motion one-half of the Democrats voted with Bailey after he had made a strong appeal to the Democrats in the House to cease quarreling among themselves, while the other half voted with Simpson. It thus appears that the Democratic party in the House is split squarely in the middle upon the question of further co-operation with the Populists. This is especially interesting in view of the fact that all the Democrats in the House belong to that wing of the Democracy which supported the Bryan ticket in 1896. This makes it apparent that even the Bryan wing of the party is split in the middle. When it is taken into consideration that the gold Democrats are still maintaining their organization as a party, and that the considerable section of the silver Democrats are now favoring Protection and even voting for it in Congress, it will be seen that the Democratic party is more hopelessly divided today even than it was in the campaign of 1896.

THE TARIFF BILL.
The Tariff Bill has been completed, so far as relates to the Senate Finance Committee, and is now ready for consideration by the Senate. How long it will be before that body cannot of course be foretold, but the outlook for a reasonable degree of speed in its consideration appears to be good, and there is good reason to believe that it will be upon the statute books by the end of the fiscal year. Members of both parties are recognizing the fact that nothing so disturbs the business conditions of the country, both among the manufacturers and others, as the uncertainty of a tariff measure of any sort, because of the fact that business contracts and undertakings cannot be entered upon without definite knowledge as to what the prices on important articles or the rates of duty will be. These facts are leading men, irrespective of party, to a desire for prompt action since they know that a business revival cannot be expected by anybody until the tariff can be put into operation and the immense stock of foreign goods now coming into the country disposed of and the market opened to our own manufacturers.

CHEERING NEWS FOR FARMERS.
The Department of Agriculture is receiving very gratifying reports from the farming community. The continuation of high prices for wheat, the unusual foreign demand for corn and the activity among farmers in preparing to make an earnest experiment in the production of sugar beets, combine to make the condition among that class of population unusually cheerful and encouraging. "Dollar wheat," for which farmers had scarcely dared to hope, was coincident with the incoming of McKinley, while the extraordinary demand for their corn adds to their general encouragement. Coupled with this comes the activity and interest felt in the experiments which are to be made in all parts of the country in the production of our own sugar, and it is apparent that the farming community is not only feeling the return of prosperity, but is occupying its mind with cheerful thoughts and prospects rather than the gloomy ones which were a constant feature of the four years of the Cleveland Administration.

THE FARMER AND THE SENATE.
The farmer is likely to be well taken care of by that dignified body, the United States Senate. The tariff bill, reported from the Finance Committee of that body on Tuesday, has added a duty of 11 cents per pound on hides, increased the rate on wool of the third class, and cut out the clause in the House bill which exempted Hawaiian sugar from duties, thus reducing the competition with teal sugar. The duty put on hides, tea, and other articles which were formerly on the free list will improve the opportunities for advantageous reciprocity treaties for which the Senate will provide, and which will greatly benefit the farmer. It is believed the House rates on wool of the first and second class will be restored by the Senate or conference committee.

A FARM HAND

Kills a Farmer and His Wife
Near Waukesha, Wis.

The Hired Girl and Hired Man Probably Factly Wounded

The Murderer Had Been Shattered Over
Night by the Farmer-After Flushing
His Bloody Wife to the Road Outside a Bicycle and Hired Man

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 8.—A double murder, and what may yet prove a quadruple murder, occurred at the farm home of Alexander Harris, who resided about five miles south of Waukesha, at an early hour Friday morning, the victims being Mr. Harris, his wife, hired girl and hired man. The crime was committed, it is supposed, by a farm hand named Wm. Pouch, who had been shattered by the farmer over night. The dead and dying were:

Alexander Harris, aged about 45 years, killed outright.

His wife, aged 45 years, killed.

Hired girl, fatally wounded.

Hired man, probably fatally wounded.

Early Thursday evening William Pouch, a farm hand who had worked for Mr. Harris about two years ago, called at the home of the farmer, and lodged over night. He was taken in, after supper and assigned a room.

After concluding his business, Pouch arose from the table and started to walk toward the door, but suddenly wheeled around and before the women realized what was about to happen he shot Mrs. Harris in the breast and then fired at the hired girl. The farmer's wife fell to the floor with a fatal wound and expired soon afterwards. The hired girl has a chance of recovery.

About 5 o'clock Mr. Harris and the hired man arose and went to the yard to milk the cows. Mr. Harris and the hired girl remained in the house, and the hired man went to the barn to feed the family. Pouch left his room quietly, and going to the yard where the men were working, he hid behind some good morning. Harris and the hired man were sitting on stools near each other and before they were aware of any evil doing Pouch drew a revolver and fired at the farmer, killing him almost instantly. The murderer then turned the weapon upon the hired man and shot him in the body, inflicting a probably fatal wound. The man fell motionless to the ground and Pouch evidently supposed him dead also.

After slaying his bloody work the murderer mounted a bicycle and rode away. He started in a southerly direction over the Milwaukee road, and the supposition is that he was en route for Burlington. A posse of farmers are in hot pursuit, and the chances are he will be captured before he escapes. He openly vowed that they will lynch the murderer.

The supposition of the authorities is that the man is either insane or that he committed the terrible deed in order to escape from another crime. The manner in which the murders were committed shows plainly that he had been deliberate in arranging his plan and had carried them out to the letter.

Mr. Harris was one of the best known farmers in the county, and quite well to do. Pouch had worked for him some time during the summer of 1908 and nothing was known of him as known to cause any animosity between them. He is described as about five feet in height, 30 years of age, wears a mustache and has blue eyes. The name of the hired man is Nelson Holt. He is 25 years of age. The girl is Helen Vestach.

It transpires that after shooting his victims Pouch went upstairs and robbed the house.

Latest reports from Mukwonago state that Mr. Harris was not fatally shot as first stated and may recover. There is little likelihood of Holt, the hired man, and Helen Vestach, the girl, their wounds being considered fatal.
